Praising in Troubled Times

2 Chronicles 20: 1-13

Praise is a celebration of the Lord, but when we are in trouble, celebrating seems out of place. However, the life of faith is frequently contrary to typical human living.

Jehoshaphat faced his difficulty by applauding God's past work and faithfulness and by recalling His promises. When we respond in a similar way, we will be able to proceed with courage too.

The natural human response to troubled times is self-pity. Rehashing the details and repercussions of our problem only makes it seem more threatening. Praise focuses our attention on God instead.

If we are looking to Him for aid, then we can't help but recognize His sovereignty.

Every trial that enters our life comes through His permissive will, which means He has complete control and He will see us through! And all God's people said Amen!

This is from Charles Stanley and I wanted to share it with you through our newsletter. May the Lord bless each one of you during this month of our celebrating Thanksgiving.

In Christ,
Bro. Dennis
